

Executive Proclamation

Office of the Governor

Whereas, Eagle Butte, a thriving city on the prairie, was incorporated in 1910 and, in 1960, became the headquarters of the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe and Bureau of Indian Affairs; and,

Whereas, Eagle Butte is a progressive business community which relies on an agricultural base, quality health care and a wide variety of retail businesses; and,

Whereas, Eagle Butte and the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe have taken a proactive approach to community development through organizations such as the Four Bands Community Fund to assist the area's entrepreneurs; and,

Whereas, Eagle Butte is rich in cultural diversity, and encourages tourism and recreation through the area's extraordinary hunting and fishing and the H.V. Johnston Lakota Cultural Center; and,

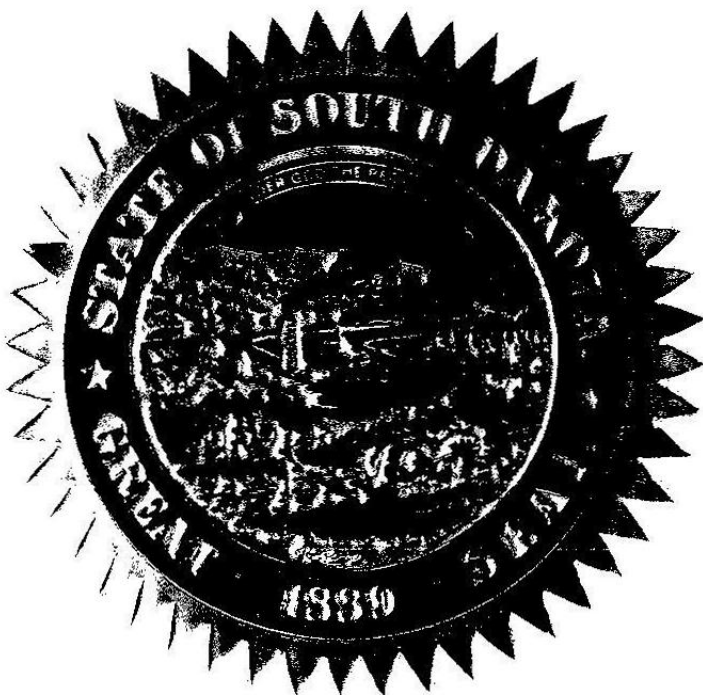

Whereas, Now, state government is going on the road to the people of Eagle Butte and the surrounding area in a unique program called "Capital for a Day"; and,

Whereas, "Capital for a Day" is designed to provide a local forum whereby an exchange of ideas, information, and concerns among the governor, cabinet officials, representatives for the private business sector, local elected officials, special interest groups, and the general public can occur:

Now, Therefore, I, M. Michael Rounds, Governor of the state of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim July 18, 2007, as in South Dakota.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the state of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Seventeenth Day of July in the Year of Our Lord, Two Thousand and Seven.

M. Michael Rounds, Governor

Attest:

Chris Nelson, Secretary of State
